UDALL CENTER FELLOWS PROGRAM

Academic Year 2024-25

in association with the

UA College of Fine Arts

– Fine Arts and Public Policy –

The College of Fine Arts (CFA) and the Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy are pleased to announce the Fine Arts component of the 2024-25 Udall Center Faculty Fellows Program. These fellowships are made possible by support from CFA. One fellowship will be available. Since the Program's inception in 1990, the Center has hosted 173 fellows representing 49 school, departments or centers and spanning 12 colleges at the UA.

The primary purpose of the fellowship is to support development of a project with public policy relevance. Topics may span the range of public policy and need not relate to Udall Center activities. During the term of the fellowship, fellows are required to develop at least one proposal for external support to further the research agenda. External support may consist of a grant, contract, or fellowship from any source outside of the University of Arizona. Over the course of the Udall fellowship, the fellow will work with Research Development Services (RDS) in RII to target, develop, and submit the proposal. By the end of the fellowship term, the Fellow will either have submitted a proposal or prepared a complete proposal draft (depending on submission due date).

Eligibility. The 2024-25 competition is open to tenured/tenure eligible or continuing/continuing eligible CFA faculty who will not be taking a sabbatical or other leave during the same academic year. Udall fellowships are not intended to precede or extend normal research leaves funded by the college, including sabbaticals and junior professional development leaves.

Terms of the Fellowship. CFA will provide the successful fellow's home department with the funds necessary to help replace the fellow's teaching responsibilities for one semester. We expect the fellow to be fully released from teaching for the semester of the fellowship; the funds are made available to units as compensation for the release time and to cover related critical teaching needs. The fellowship will be awarded only if the applicant's home unit supports the application and the release of teaching time. Potential applicants must discuss the prospects of such support with department heads or directors prior to applying and should submit a signed form indicating departmental approval. The dean will also be provided an opportunity to endorse an application (or not) and to provide relevant comments (see below). Applications will be reviewed by a selection committee that will make recommendations to the CFA dean and the director of the Udall Center (who will inform applicants of awards following discussion with the units regarding funds and release time). Fellows are expected to present a colloquium on their work during the fellowship period and to acknowledge the institutional sources of support, including CFA, in grants and publications resulting from the award.

Application Procedure. Each applicant should submit via email with attachments in MS Word or Adobe PDF: (1) a brief statement describing policy research interests; (2) specific plans for activities to be undertaken during the fellowship term, including the mandatory external proposal development project (identifying specific prospective funding sources), and any other plans for original research and writing (up to five pages); (3) information on any related proposals already submitted for external support; (4) a curriculum vitae; (5) a letter of reference; and (6) a fully signed cover sheet bearing the signature of the department head/director and the CFA dean (attached). Electronic copies of the full packet should be submitted to Molli Bryson at mollic@arizona.edu by January 30, 2024. For more information, you may contact Laura Lopez Hoffman at lauralh@arizona.edu.

Selection. Applications will be reviewed by a panel of former fellows and a representative of the CFA dean. The Center expects to announce the results of the competition by the end of March 2024.
